DQ Technologies and Distributing Management Systems, Inc. Join Together to Offer Order Delivery Tracking and GPS Solutions

June 14, 2007 – DQ Technologies and Distributing Management Systems, Inc. would like to announce Agility Order and Dispatch/ Delivery Tracking (ODT) solution for building materials and millwork distribution companies. Integrated with your Agility software, this new ODT solution can help maximize on-time, accurate and reliable deliveries while improving the efficiency and profitability of your dispatch operations; while improving the efficiency and profitability for dispatch operations. The Agility ODT solution will provide dispatch, sales, and management organizations with accurate, detailed daily delivery and scheduling information. What's more, the software's integrated Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) capability lets dispatchers coordinate order combination, routing and fleet tracking to get the most out of your delivery operations.

About DQ Technologies

DQ Technologies focuses on building strong relationships with clients—they want to be viewed as an extension of their client's team and not just another vendor. They strive to learn as much as possible about each customer, their business, and what's most important to them. When customers call DQ Technologies, they hear the same familiar voices each time and know who they're talking with. DQ Technologies currently serves more than 500 clients across North America.
